

NEWALL ENGINEERING ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT - 1957

By Dorothy Hovell, Jack Wilkinson's secretary,

What lies beyond that door, from whom bold letters glare
"Clean-round-the-bend Department. Enter if you dare."
Within, with furrowed brow, seeking help from Him afar,
Sits the great J. Wilkinson, and a lesser-sized ShooShar. (Ted Sharman)

The Cannon (Don Calvert) was around but complained of feeling ill.
He therefore had blown down his throat one Dr. Oldfield pill.
A great cure this, but sometimes hard to swallow,
Though instructions as to taking are not difficult to follow!

'Twill pick you up far quicker than the brew drunk by the millions
Who have listened to the tunes of Billy Hovell's Pike & Eelians.
But Don, feeling that pills are not essential to nutrition,
Has gone to work it off on some unfortunate electrician.

His day is sometimes dangerous, for he holds his life at cost
When trying to investigate just which two wires are crossed.
Take my advice, just stay away, and do not venture nigh,
In case he blows a fuse and sends the lot of us sky-high.
